Teen Read Week/Writing Contest

Teens, celebrate Teen Read Week by entering our writing contest! Participants can choose their category (short story, creative non-fiction, etc.) and enter submissions before October 14th. Winners will be announced at the Book Character Costume Party scheduled on October 27th, and prizes will be awarded during the party. Please visit our website and click on the Teens & Tweens tab for more information, guidelines, and entry forms. Celebrate Teen Read Week and unleash your story!

iLABS

Have you heard about our new iLABS? Do you know what a makerspace is? An iLAB is a place for people to come and create, make, tinker, try, develop, share resources and knowledge, and to collaborate. It's an informal learning space where ideas can become reality, innovation happens, and the entrepreneurial spirits soar.

Located downstairs next to the Computer Lab, you will find iLABS for all ages—a 3-D printer, new computers with amazing software for audio/visual/graphic design creation, a photography kit with a green screen, a sewing machine, knitting & calligraphy crafting kits...and more.

You're invited to use the new equipment during Open Lab time: noon-7pm Monday-Thursday, 11am-5pm Friday, and 11am-2pm on Saturdays. Join us at the Library and put ideas into action!
